I have been a resident of Western Kentucky for 47 years, and a few years ago I switched from area code 502 to 270. Now I understand I may have to switch again due to us running out of numbers.

I do not have a cellphone, but I was once told the increase in cellphone use was causing us to run out of numbers more quickly. If this is indeed the case, couldn't a separate area code be created for cell phones, and let us with landlines keep our 270 area code?

Thank you,
